This one-day instructor development class is designed and delivered by experienced female firearms instructors whose intentions are to share knowledge gained through years of training women in law enforcement at every level. A very honest and realistic approach to enhancing the female's shooting performance will be open for discussion.

The goal of this course is to broaden the instructor's knowledge in the following areas: The importance of vocabulary. How a female's physiology plays a role in the shooting process. Social issues and ergonomic aides and manipulation techniques to assist the smaller statured officer. Instructors will also learn proven concentration techniques to improve marksmanship, creative and effective ways of using peer coaching and competition into their training. The class will be based on an open format with time allotted for questions and information sharing.

Participant requirements: Duty gear with 150 rounds of pistol, patrol rifle 150 rounds of rifle ammo, high power binoculars or a spotting scope.

About LouKa Tactical: In business since 1999 it is the largest female owned and operated company of its kind. Co-owner Lou Ann Hamblin retired from law enforcement having served for 22 years. She specializes in training female officers and is a certified firearms and defensive tactics instructor in a variety of disciplines. To date she has trained just over 3900 women in pistol classes nationally and internationally. She is a Team One Network adjunct instructor and an H&K Master Pistol Instructor. She instructs nationally in the areas of instructor development, training for specialty units and female officer survival to include presentations at the following conferences: Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE), The International Law Enforcement Educators and Trainers Association (ILEETA), The International Police Mountain Bike Association (IPMBA), and The International Association of Law Enforcement Firearms Instructors (IALEFI). Lou Ann also serves on the Board of Directors for IALEFI and was named ILEETA's "Iron Cop" for 2009 conference. She currently serves on the PoliceOne.com advisory board and is a former presenter with Calibre Press Women's Street Survival Seminars, of which she co-wrote. Lou Ann has published numerous law enforcement related training articles.
